Profile

A filmmaker, creative, and team player with a naturally embedded sense of rhythm and direction gained through a decade of self-started works. I am invested in dissecting the stories and relationships of the modern age that have yet to be explored to their full potential. Adaptable, industrious, and always devoted to the projects I work on, I am a versatile and passionate team member and leader ready to put myself into any role necessary to provide the best and most honest work possible.
